INSURANCE DEPARTMENT,

BOSTON, Jan. 1, 1882.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives.

As required by statute, the Insurance Commissioner presents herewith Part I. of the Twenty-seventh Annual Report of this Department. Its pages contain a full exhibit of the business transactions and financial condition of the Fire, Marine, and Fire-Marine Insurance Companies authorized in Massachusetts in 1881, and still writing risks therein, as shown by their annual statements. In connection therewith will be found such other information as may possess interest and importance.

Respectfully submitted.

JULIUS L. CLARKE,

Insurance Commissioner.

TWENTY-SEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

INSURANCE COMMISSIONER.

PART I.

FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.

THE annual statements of one hundred and ninety-six Fire, Marine, and Fire-Marine Insurance Companies, authorized in Massachusetts at the close of 1881, are summarized in the following pages. Admissions and withdrawals pending the preparation and printing of this Report leave the present number of such Companies one hundred and ninety-eight, — a net increase of two since the last Report to the Legislature.

It may also be stated in this connection, that, within the last five years, forty-eight Companies writing the same class of risks have been admitted to transact business in Massachusetts, while seventy-two have withdrawn from the field, either by voluntary act, or under judicial procedure. As the net result, Home Companies have been reduced in number from eighty-five to seventy-two; those from other States, from one hundred and seventeen to ninety-seven; while Companies from foreign countries have increased from fifteen to twenty-nine, the present number, three or four others having in the mean time re-insured their American risks and retired from the field.

Various matters appertaining to the insurance history of the State, some of them affecting Home Companies whose past record warrants the anticipation of a long and successful future, may be appropriately cited herewith. Among these is the change of title, under legislative sanction, by two Companies; the Massachusetts Mutual taking the name of the Massachusetts Mutual Fire Insurance Company, and the Mercantile Marine taking the name of the Mercantile Fire and Marine Insurance Company,—changes rendered necessary for the convenience of themselves and their patrons. Two other Companies have inaugurated important modifications in their business plans, their experience having fully demonstrated the propriety and equity of such action. These are the Fitchburg Mutual of Fitchburg and the Traders' and Mechanics' of Lowell, the former having abolished its classification of risks, and transferred all to its mutual department; and the latter having decided to close up its stock department, and transact only the business of a purely Mutual Company,—a plan which will secure to itself and to its policy-holders a much more satisfactory and successful administration.

COMPANIES ADMITTED AND WITHDRAWN.

Since the last Report, ten Companies writing fire risks have been admitted to the State; while, of the thirteen withdrawn, eleven were transacting a fire and two a marine business. The following is the record:—

The thirteen retiring Companies withdrew $5,330,313 of cash assets, including $3,158,000 of paid-up cash capital. The ten Companies admitted brought to the business $4,433,108 of cash assets, including $2,200,000 of paid-up cash capital. Of these, seven were American Companies, holding $3,546,779 of the assets, including $1,600,000 of the capital; the three Foreign Companies representing $886,329 of the assets, including $600,000 of the capital, the latter being cash deposits in this country for the security of all their American policy-holders.

The net result shows a withdrawal of $897,205 of cash capital and assets, with a reduction of surplus as regards policy-holders from $3,557,565 to $2,638,795, of which latter $1,950,539 is held by the seven American, and $688,256 by the three newly admitted Foreign, Companies.

Of the retiring Companies, seven re-insured their risks. Three of them were Home Companies, — the Commonwealth of Boston, re-insuring in the Commercial Union of London; the Beverly, in the Shoe and Leather of Boston; and the Atlantic Fire and Marine of Provincetown, in the Equitable Marine of the same place. The other four were, the Hoffman of New York, which re-insured in the Niagara of the same city; the Lamar of New York, in the Phenix of Brooklyn; the New York City of New York, and the United Firemen's of Philadelphia, both in the Standard of London, the Firemen's re-insuring only its New England risks; and the Hamburg-Magdeburg, in the Fire Association of London.

The United Firemen's, enumerated among the withdrawals, has applied for re-admission to the State since these pages were prepared for the press, and has been re-instated in the Massachusetts field.

The annual statement of the United States Lloyds was received too late for publication in its proper place. It shows the following aggregates: gross assets, $642,851.06; liabilities, $195,594.44; surplus as regards policy-holders, $447,256.62.

INSURANCE EXPERIENCE OF 1881.

The comparative compilations hereto annexed, Tables A to F inclusive, are again introduced as a desirable and comprehensive exhibit of the financial experience and condition of Companies authorized to write fire and marine risks in this State in 1881. Subsequent tabulations, I. to XIII., with the detailed statements which follow, present an elaborate review of the year's results.

As a whole, the business of the year has been far from profitable or encouraging. The almost constant succession of disastrous conflagrations, with competitive and extensive cutting of rates below a living standard, and other causes injuriously affecting its prosperity, have interposed serious discouragements. Of course, as in every year, there are some Companies whose good fortune renders them noticeable exceptions in the summing up of results; yet even their future experience may bring unexpected reverses.

The entire business of the Companies whose statements appear in the present Report shows the following aggregates: risks written during the year, $9,493,680,502, nearly eight hundred millions over 1880; outstanding at the close of the year, $8,247,181,405; admitted assets, $174,599,124, about twelve millions in excess of 1880; liabilities, $59,042,247; leaving a net surplus of $115,556,877, an increase of nearly seven millions over the previous year. The gross income of all the Companies amounted to $81,893,385, and their gross expenditures to $76,057,255. Their premium receipts were $74,141,821, upwards of six millions over 1880, in which year there was an increase of more than seven millions in excess of 1879; losses paid, $43,597,783, an increase of $4,636,434 over 1880; working expenses, $23,617,799, also an increase of nearly two and a half millions. The losses and expenses paid in 1881 aggregate upwards of seven millions more than in 1880, leaving the balance of premium receipts $6,926,239, or a small fraction over nine per cent, which is a considerable reduction from the previous year.

Of this whole business exhibit, Massachusetts Companies show risks written, $903,136,540, an increase of more than forty-three millions; risks outstanding, $907,111,877; admitted assets, $22,669,509, an increase of nearly one million; liabilities, $7,282,545, leaving a net surplus of $15,386,964; gross income, $9,328,327; gross expenditures, $8,851,527; premium receipts, $9,301,960; losses paid, $5,440,109; working expenses, $2,119,688; balance of premium receipts after payment of losses and expenses, a fraction over eight per cent. It is noticeable that the ratio of marine and inland losses to premium receipts, on that class of risks written by Home Companies, shows an increase from 53.86 in 1880 to 76.94 in 1881.

Following the same analysis, it appears that Companies from other States report risks written amounting to $4,543,380,175, an increase of nearly four hundred millions; risks outstanding, $5,035,424,882; admitted assets, $126,466,331, an increase of nearly eight millions; liabilities, $37,939,634; leaving a net surplus of $88,526,697; gross income, $52,029,765; gross expenditures, $49,238,444; premium receipts, $46,353,236; losses paid, $26,719,245; working expenses, $15,327,954; balance of premium receipts after payment of losses and expenses, a mere fraction over nine per cent.

The home statements of Foreign Companies are omitted from this, as they were from the last Report, a brief summary of their principal results being substituted. As heretofore explained, they have no particular interest or value in this country, although the law requiring them still remains unnecessarily upon the statute book. Twenty-eight of these Companies are represented in this Report through the statements of their United States Branches. Two others have been admitted since the commencement of the year; but, of the first named, only twenty-seven are recognized in the financial exhibit submitted herewith. The exception is the British and Foreign Marine Insurance Company of Liverpool, whose incorrect and incomplete statement (see p. 362) is unavailable for any practical use, although ample time was given for its rendition. The failure, however, should awaken no distrust of the Company's ability or integrity. A full statement of its American business will hereafter be promptly required, should the Company remain in Massachusetts.

The other twenty-seven Foreign Companies report American risks written, $2,703,122,078, an increase of more than four hundred and twenty-three millions over 1880; risks outstanding, $2,304,644,646; admitted assets available for the protection of all their policy-holders in the United States, $25,463,284, including deposits of $7,487,120 in State departments, but not including special deposits of $5,525,144, which some of them have made in five or six States requiring such security for the exclusive protection of their own citizens. They also report gross income for the year, $20,535,293; gross expenditures, $17,967,284; premium receipts, $19,473,485, each item upwards of three millions in excess of 1880; losses paid, $11,786,921, an increase of more than two and a half millions; working expenses, $6,170,157; balance of premium receipts after payment of losses and expenses, nearly nine and a quarter per cent, and larger than in either of the other two classifications.

The purely Massachusetts business for 1881, as transacted by all the Companies, and classified as in the preceding cases, will be found in similar detail in connection with the subject of "Taxation of Insurance Companies," on a subsequent page.

MUTUAL COMPANIES AND THEIR DEPOSIT NOTES.

Under the present law of the State, Mutual Fire Insurance Companies may take deposit notes for not less than three nor more than ten times the amount of the cash premium charged, some Companies taking three, some five, and a few ten times the amount.

Although deposit notes cannot, under the statute provision, be included in the admitted assets of a Company, yet they constitute an important and vital element of financial resource and strength, especially in contingencies from which no Insurance Company is exempt. Being assessable for their full amount if necessary, in such sums and at such times as the exigencies of the business may require, the mutual protection of the members is fully assured.

In their relation to the possible requirements of a Company, deposit notes bear some semblance to the subscribed capital of many Foreign Companies. The amount of the former, as already stated, may be realized in cases of financial necessity; while for the payment of the latter the shareholders are liable, if need be, for all they are worth, and those able to pay may even be compelled to pay for those unable to do so.

At the close of 1881 the Massachusetts Mutual Fire Companies held six and a half millions of admitted assets, while their deposit notes aggregated more than twelve and a half millions, the amount held by each Company appearing in Table I. of this Report. It will be seen, therefore, that, in addition to their cash assets, they had a productive resource of nearly double that amount on which to rely, if required by sudden or unexpected emergencies, thus practically giving them an available monetary basis of nineteen millions. A productive element so strong should command its share of prestige and favor.

THE PROTECTION OF INSURANCE CONTRACTS.

There is a wide difference between the methods existing in foreign countries and in the United States for the fulfillment of insurance contracts. In the former, the whole matter seems apparently optional with the Companies, which set apart, from time to time, such funds as they may deem necessary as a reserve for the protection of outstanding risks. But, in the latter, it is regulated by statutory provisions, which, as at present framed, enforce no standard possessing a shadow of equity or equality.

Every experienced and conservative underwriter must admit that a proper and adequate re-insurance reserve is as necessary in fire and marine as in life or casualty insurance. That such reserve should be fairly and equitably computed, and legally required, is also equally important. But even the fool who runs must know that the present standard, as established by law, is practically a farce, inasmuch as Companies may, and do, evade and defeat its well and wisely intended purpose, by fixing with impunity their own reserve liability under its operation.

Thus a speculative and reckless Company, impelled by the pressure and strife of competition to write hazardous and even extra hazardous risks, as has been the case in some of the most exposed districts in Boston and in other cities of the Commonwealth, during the last year, at the ridiculous and ruinous rate of twenty-five cents, is enabled to appear, on paper, as solvent and comparatively strong; while, if required under proper legislation to hold a safe and sufficient reserve, the same Company would show impairment or absolute insolvency. It is needless, however, to waste time or words in pursuing the analysis.

The subject has been for some years under consideration, both among insurance officials as well as among conservative and thoughtful underwriters, though certainly not, on the part of the former, with any desire or intention to urge arbitrary requirement or restriction, but rather to suggest some action looking to a more equitable and truthful exhibit in the interest of policy-holders and of wisely managed Companies. It is no new revelation that under the present system a Company may be absolutely and hopelessly insolvent, and yet rank favorably with those whose conservatism and financial strength deservedly command confidence and patronage. So it appears that a re-insurance reserve, or liability, charged to the former at fifty per cent of its unearned premiums on outstanding risks written at twenty-five to forty cents, a bankrupt rate, is a glaring absurdity when compared with a reserve charged to the latter at fifty per cent of its unearned premiums on risks written at living rates necessarily more than double the reckless figure first cited.

It was for these reasons that the last annual conference of State insurance officials invited such co-operation as representative underwriters might be disposed to render in securing a more consistent and equitable system, and thus relieve the present discrimination against reasonable and paying rates. A few of the most experienced underwriters in the country have tendered their services in this behalf; but, without a more general co-operation, the remedy will probably be reached only through legislative inquiry and action.

TAXATION OF INSURANCE COMPANIES.

The statutes regulating the taxation of Insurance Companies in many of the States, imposing as they do an almost annually increasing ratio, have very naturally become a cause of growing dissatisfaction and complaint among underwriters subject to their application. Nor have they escaped unfavorable criticism in other circles claiming to judge intelligently of their practical effect upon public interest and prosperity.

Without entering into the discussion here, it may be stated, briefly, that in Massachusetts some of the chief grounds of complaint, on the part of Home Joint-Stock Companies and those having guarantee capital, have been, —

First, That existing statutes discriminate unjustly against them, thereby discouraging the investment of capital in their business, and imposing unequal burdens which retard their progress, and even jeopardize their existence.

Second, That taxation based upon the so-called market value of their own stock is inequitable and oppressive, inasmuch as such value is often largely exaggerated by the assumption of factors not applied to any other class of taxpayers.

Third, That while Home Companies are taxed on the market value of their investments, including even government bonds as part of their assets, Foreign Companies have not only been granted special immunities in their own jurisdictions, but have been comparatively exempt from taxation here, the only levy upon them having been heretofore a small per cent of premium receipts; and that, therefore, the latter have been able to write risks much below any average standard with which the former can compete.

In the case of the Home Mutuals the principal and perhaps only cause of complaint has been, and is, the alleged over-taxation of premium receipts. Hence the plea for such modification of the present statute as will impose a tax only upon net instead of gross premium receipts. In asking such relief the fact is urged that these Companies return to their policy-holders a large percentage of the premium rate, and therefore should not be taxed on the amount so returned. The truth is that most of them do return to their policy-holders from about ten to eighty per cent of the premiums paid, while at least one of the most successful has been able for some years to return one hundred per cent, or the entire premiums paid. On the other hand, it is claimed that the Companies realize an average rate of interest on gross premiums received, until dividends or returns to policy-holders are declared.

These and similar considerations have been urged by home underwriters as notably at variance with the policy of other jurisdictions in fostering their own Insurance Companies, and encouraging the investment of capital in their stock. Whatever differences of opinion may be entertained by the advocates and opponents of the present system, facts of significant import may be cited as tending more or less forcibly to an intelligent solution of the problem involved.

For instance, the total risks written by authorized Companies on Massachusetts property in 1881 aggregated nearly one thousand millions of dollars, with premium receipts amounting to almost nine and a half millions. This was Massachusetts business alone. Of this large volume the Home Companies, including the Mutuals, wrote $365,118,287, on which their premium receipts were $1,444,534. Companies from other States wrote $378,215,524, with premium receipts amounting to $3,351,645. The remainder, $170,230,926, was written by Companies from other countries, which realized $1,505,781 in premium receipts.

This entire business was written at an average premium rate of one and two hundredths per cent. But it should be remembered that the aggregate includes that written by the Home Mutuals without taking into consideration the large return premiums, or dividends, declared to their policy-holders, as above stated. If the amount so returned were deducted from their reported premium receipts, both their own and the general average rate would be materially reduced.

Still another condition appears in the experience of the Home Joint-Stock Companies and those having guarantee capital, which wrote, in 1881, on Massachusetts property, $203,897,218, about twenty-two per cent of the whole home business, their premium receipts amounting to $2,478,174. In a comparison of the premium rate on this volume of business with that shown by Companies of other States and countries, it would neither be fair nor truthful to allege that Massachusetts Companies charge higher rates than others on the same class of risks, excepting of course those which recklessly write hazardous and extra-hazardous risks at half and even quarter rates. The reason of any appreciable difference in average rates is chiefly due to the character of the risks written by Home Companies, a considerable portion of which, both in their fire, marine, and inland business, involve conditions essentially different from those appertaining to the mass of risks written by their outside competitors.

The differing conditions referred to are more apparent in the varying classes of marine risks, and in the relatively larger volume of long term fire risks written by Home Companies. This will explain the difference between their average premium rates in 1881, and those of Companies from other States and countries, the former showing in their Massachusetts fire business alone an average of .97, and the latter an average of .87.

But, aside from these analyses, the fact still remains that Companies from other States and countries wrote nearly two-thirds of all risks placed on Massachusetts property in 1881, and at average rates heavily reduced from those of former years. With this fact before them, it can hardly be wondered at that home underwriters should keenly realize the disadvantages of their position.

In the matter of alleged discrimination, unequal taxation, etc., of which complaint is made, it is proper to state that the particular class of Companies most affected thereby hold a cash and guarantee capital of nearly eight millions, and that the taxes now paid average about two and a half per cent on that amount, the range being from two to upwards of four per cent. With present interest rates, which have little promise of advancement, the margin of profit on a Company's investments is not particularly encouraging. When it is considered, also, that in every year the losses of many Companies nearly equal and often exceed their premium income, and that the aggregate losses — as in the case of Massachusetts Companies in 1881 — are frequently in excess of the aggregate premium income, it becomes apparent that such excess, as well as dividends to stockholders, must have been paid, not from profits of the business, but from surplus accumulated largely from appreciation of investments.

But, whatever may be said of the equity or inequity of the present system of taxation, no one can for a moment believe that the increased tax on premium receipts proposed to be henceforth required from Foreign Companies will in any manner lessen the burden complained of by Home Companies, whose petition for some measure of relief has been dismissed by the present Legislature. Whether the increased tax referred to will tend to equalize competition, as some have claimed in advance, or even have any perceptible influence in that direction, is a problem to be solved by future experience.

RECKLESSNESS, IMPAIRMENT, AND FAILURE.

The results of reckless competition in the struggle for business has often brought disaster, which would never have occurred had even ordinary prudence prevailed. In no department of enterprise is such precaution more necessary and vital than in the business of underwriting. No year, or period of years, is without its examples of impairment or failure largely attributable to recklessness in the acceptance and writing of risks. The history of the last decade abounds with illustrations of this character.

Following the disastrous experiences in Chicago and Boston ten years ago, there came a needed and healthful reform in some branches of underwriting. The business grew rapidly prosperous, with paying and profitable rates, warranting and realizing reasonable and even generous dividends. Under these tempting conditions, many new Companies organized and entered the field with great promise of success and growth; many old Companies which had survived the ordeals of 1871 and 1872, though more or less financially crippled, were speedily enabled to recover and even to exceed their previous prestige and strength; while others secured also a liberal share of accruing benefits.

But this harvest season was doomed to a comparatively brief existence. The strife for business and its attendant cutting of rates without regard to discrimination or safety, which soon followed, are now developing their unfortunate results. Under the pressure of almost unprecedented competition, many Companies which had profited by previous and more favorable auspices, and made handsome returns to their stock and policy holders, are now compelled to put up with small dividends, or pass them entirely. Many others are merely holding their own in anticipation of better prospects; while the exceptions are mostly those in which good management has been supplemented by special good luck. Among the consequences of this unfortunate re-action, it is noticeable that nearly every Massachusetts Company which was induced to enter the field during the brief era of prosperity referred to has been forced to close its doors; while many incorporated elsewhere have been compelled to retire from the business. Should present conditions be prolonged, still others must sooner or later succumb to the inevitable.

FIRES IN MASSACHUSETTS IN 1881.

It was a wise enactment of the Legislature of 1878 requiring boards of selectmen of towns and mayor and aldermen of cities to make annual report of the statistics of fires in their respective municipalities. It was judicious, because intended for the accumulation of data looking to a more intelligent comprehension of the necessities and hazards to be provided against, and therefore directly in the interest of property owners, as well as of cities and towns themselves. It was thought, and rightly too, that a few years' experience would develop results of special value in solving important problems involving the better protection of the insured and the insurer.

In order to carry into effect the purpose of the statute, as therein directed, the necessary blanks have been prepared and forwarded early in each year, with information and suggestions designed to aid and simplify the required service. But in many instances of chronic delinquency no attention is given to the matter by the boards or their clerks, and the blanks are mislaid, thrown away, or lost, often rendering it necessary to duplicate them two or three times over, with renewed correspondence and instructions. Until the present year, however, every city and town in the Commonwealth, including those specially urged, has responded to the requirement of the Legislature; the only exception being that of Brockton, which, during the last year, suffered serious losses from conflagration. Courteous and repeated appeals have been made to the proper authorities for the information required, but without response. It is respectfully suggested that the difficulty may be easily remedied by some proper legislative modification of sect. 10, chap. 35 of the Public Statutes.

Although the statistical results thus far gathered have not been so complete as could be desired, owing, in numerous cases, to lack of care and system in the collation and preservation of municipal records, especially where no organized fire departments exist, yet the information already communicated to the Legislature, and accumulating from year to year, promises a valuable basis for a more practical and equitable classification of risks and premium rates.

The fire record of the State for 1881 is largely a verification of the experiences of the previous year. Ninety-seven towns report no fires, seven less than in 1880. In the remaining municipalities (Brockton excepted) there were 1,694 fires, 23 less than in 1880. The whole amount of insurance written on the property burned and exposed was nearly eleven and a half millions; estimated losses, $4,312,642; amount reimbursed, $3,059,424, — nearly seventy-one per cent, and varying but a fraction from the percentage of 1880.

Of the whole number of losses, 511 were total, and 1,183 partial. Nearly forty per cent of all the fires, or 675, are reported as incendiary and unknown; those caused by defective chimneys and heating apparatus, 243; exposure to other burning buildings or premises, 194; careless use and exposure of matches, 126, — of which 9 were caused by rats, and 82 by children at play; sparks from chimneys, stoves, furnaces, and locomotives, 83; use of kerosene and volatile oils, 82; spontaneous combustion, 56; smoking, 49; exposure to gas-jets, 30; ashes in wooden vessels, 21.

The rendering of these annual returns is already yielding good results in many sections of the State. Public attention is being enlisted, and greater vigilance exercised, in the adoption of measures looking to the prevention of fires and the better protection of property. Indirectly in this behalf the selectmen of Holliston have set an example of special interest. In 1880 thirteen fires occurred in that town, against four in 1881,—ten months of the latter year passing without a single one. The large disproportion in 1881 evidently resulted, in part, from the action of a special committee appointed by the selectmen, under a vote of the town, to investigate the causes of fires in the previous year. Of the thirteen fires in that year, the committee report that five were undoubtedly, and one probably, of incendiary origin.

In submitting their report the committee make the following comments, which are of sufficient interest to the public, as well as to underwriters, to warrant their reproduction here. They say, — “Property in Holliston has sometimes been insured for much more than its value as determined by the assessors, and insurance has actually been paid by the companies largely in excess of such value. Whether property is fairly assessed, is a matter on which there can justly be a difference of opinion. If the tendency of any insurance is bad, the tendency of over-insurance is much worse: it leads to carelessness and to crime besides. Add financial embarrassment to over-insurance, and there is a still stronger inducement to crime. Add the probable freedom from detection, in case one yields to the temptations held out to him, and some one in every community will be likely to be found wicked enough to set fire to his own property to get the insurance money.

“The temptation to an agent to insure for whatever amount the insured desires is also great. The larger the risk, the larger the premium, and the larger also the commission. Further, if the agent refuses to take all that is wanted on a risk, he knows very well that the applicant will be sure to find an agent who will yield to his desires. In case an insured building burns, an agent is tempted to favor the owner rather than the company; for if he aids the owner to get the full amount of his insurance, and urges a speedy settlement, he will receive another commission when the insured rebuilds. When the same ground is burned over a number of times, the agent’s business is stimulated beyond its normal amount.

“The amount of insurance paid for losses in Massachusetts in the year 1880 was, in round numbers, five and one-quarter millions of dollars. Considering our valuation as compared with that of the State, there should have been paid in Holliston, for losses in that year, something under $6,000, while in fact the amount paid was over $44,000.”¹

With the constant occurrence of destructive fires in the principal centres of population and business, efficient precautions are becoming more and more indispensable, not only for their prevention, but against their extension to other premises and larger areas. The interspersion of tinder-box buildings in thickly settled districts provides excellent kindling wood for the destruction of the more substantial structures. The recent great fire which laid waste so large a portion of the city of Haverhill may be cited as an illustration in point, which will doubtless prompt the substitution of a better class of buildings for very many of those destroyed. In this case no accurate statistics of the heavy losses and insurances, as adjusted, have as yet become accessible.

MASSACHUSETTS COMPANIES VOLUNTARILY CLOSING BUSINESS.

The disadvantages under which a large majority of Home Companies have been struggling for many years, aggravated by excessive and unscrupulous competition, and in numerous cases by exceptional losses and by other causes which have seriously affected their business prosperity, have proved almost as disastrous to their existence as the great conflagrations in Chicago and Boston in 1871-2-3, and are closing the doors of nearly as many Companies as were wiped out by those historic experiences. As the result of the former unpropitious conditions, eighteen of the Massachusetts Companies voluntarily retiring are still winding up their business affairs.

Of the causes which have contributed in greater or less degree to this mortuary record, some of the more immediate and potential are significantly suggested in connection with other topics considered in these pages, and therefore need no special repetition here. It should be added, to the honor of the Companies involved, that in every case their policyholders have been equitably and fully protected, while, with one or two exceptions, their stockholders have been fortunate in escaping loss.

It is only fair, however, to state that the fatality is not wholly confined to territorial jurisdiction. Its epidemic results have affected many Companies from other States, most of which have been forced into retirement by the ordinary vicissitudes of the business rather than by such local influences as have controlled and determined the financial status of so many of our own Home Companies. A casual glance at the record of withdrawals from this State and the causes therefor, even during half of the last decade, will show more clearly the distinction suggested, inasmuch as nothing of local import, beyond the results of competition and accruing losses, could have prompted their action.

The following are the Massachusetts Companies now voluntarily closing their business, most of them having re-insured their risks, and some of them being nearly ready to relinquish their corporate existence:—

Mutual Fire Companies.—The Boot Manufacturers', the City, the Factory, Mechanics' (Mutual and Stock), New England, and the Suffolk, — all of Boston; also the Westfield, Weymouth and Braintree, and the Whately.

Mutual Marine Companies.—The Atlantic of Provincetown, the Commercial of Boston, and the Union of New Bedford.

Joint-Stock Companies.—The Alliance, Commonwealth, Faneuil Hall, Globe, Revere, and the Shawmut, all of Boston.

The Beverly Insurance Company has re-insured its risks, but has not yet voted to close its doors.

INSURANCE RECEIVERSHIPS.

Since the last Report three of the Massachusetts Receiverships, those of the Home, National, and People's Insurance Companies, have been closed by order of Court, their final accounts having been rendered, and all unclaimed dividends paid into the State Treasury, subject to the provisions of sect. 173, chap. 119 of the Public Statutes.

The affairs of several others have remained substantially unchanged since last reported; viz., those of the Boston, Exchange, Howard, Manufacturers', Merchants', and the Shoe and Leather Dealers' Insurance Companies. The remainder appear in the following abstracts:—

Conway Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

INSURANCE COMPANIES

OF OTHER STATES AND FOREIGN COUNTRIES

(EXCEPTING LIFE AND ACCIDENT COMPANIES)

AUTHORIZED TO DO BUSINESS IN MASSACHUSETTS, WITH THE AGENTS
ACTING FOR THE SAME, AND THE AMOUNT OF BUSINESS DONE AND TAX PAID BY EACH, FOR THE YEAR ENDING
OCT. 31, 1881, AS RETURNED TO THE TAX COMMISSIONER, AND BY HIM COMPILED.

EVERY AGENT of any insurance company not incorporated in this Commonwealth is required by law to procure from the Insurance Commissioner a CERTIFICATE OF AUTHORITY for each company for which he proposes to act. The Certificate specifies the name of the Agent, and also the name of the company for which he is authorized to act. It expires, and must be renewed, on the first day of April in each year.

To guard against the impositions of fraudulent companies and dishonest agents, the Commissioner deems it his duty to advise that parties solicited to insure in any company not chartered in this state should decline to deal with any person not holding the Commissioner's Certificate of Authority, or to insure in any company not named in the Certificate.

* The stock is subscribed annually, in November, in shares of $1,000 each, for which a stock-note is given of $200 per share, upon which all assessments are made. Each subscriber is required to insure vessel-property to at least seven-eighths of the amount of stock taken by him. No vessels are insured except Gloucester fishing-vessels. No one risk exceeds $8,000. All risks terminate on the thirtieth day of November of each year, and each year's business is settled at the close of the year. Premiums commence in November at 9 per cent, and decrease as the season advances to 4 per cent, which is the lowest premium. Extra hazardous risks pay extra premiums.

INSURANCE LAWS OF 1881.

THE following are the laws enacted in 1881 relating to Insurance and Insurance Companies, with the exception of the statute establishing a Standard Form of Fire Insurance Policy, which was published in the last Report from this Department. These and all other acts relating to fire, marine, life, and casualty insurance (assessment insurance excepted) are now codified into one chapter, viz., chap. 119 of the Public Statutes. Those covering Beneficiary or Assessment Associations may be found in chap. 115 of the Public Statutes.

[CHAP. 51.]

AN ACT relating to the transaction of Fidelity Insurance in this Commonwealth.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECT. 1. Section three of chapter one hundred and thirty of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and seventy-nine is hereby amended by striking out the words "life insurance," and inserting the words "either life insurance or fidelity insurance: provided, that the business of fidelity insurance shall not be transacted in this Commonwealth by any company not having a capital of at least two hundred thousand dollars."

SECT. 2. This act shall take effect upon its passage. [Approved March 2, 1881.]

[CHAP. 63.]

AN ACT in addition to "An Act limiting the Forfeiture of Policies in Life Insurance Companies."

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECT. 1. The provisions of chapter two hundred and thirty-two of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and eighty, limiting the forfeiture of policies in life insurance companies, shall be binding upon the companies to which it applies, any stipulation or condition of forfeiture contained in their policies or elsewhere to the contrary notwithstanding; and any waiver by the assured of the benefits of said act shall be void: provided, that this act shall not prevent the performance of any stipulation or condition in any policy issued before the passage of this act.

SECT. 2. This act shall take effect upon its passage. [Approved March 5, 1881.]

[CHAP. 142.]

AN ACT to regulate the Voting of Stockholders in Joint-Stock Insurance Companies.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECT. 1. At all meetings of the stockholders of joint-stock insurance companies incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth, every stockholder shall be entitled to cast one vote for each share held by him, provided he shall not be entitled to vote upon any shares in excess of one-tenth part of the whole number of shares of the stock of the corporation.

SECT. 2. This act shall take effect upon its passage. [Approved March 24, 1881.]

[CHAP. 269.]

AN ACT to provide for the Redemption of the Guarantee Capital Stock of Mutual Fire Insurance Companies.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows :

SECT. 1. Whenever any mutual fire insurance company shall at a meeting called for the purpose vote to discontinue its stock department, and redeem its guarantee capital stock, such company may apply to the supreme judicial court in equity to determine the manner, terms and conditions in which said capital stock may be redeemed, and thereupon said court, after such notice to all parties in interest as the court shall order, may hear and determine the matter of the application; and such company may redeem and cancel said capital stock in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as said court shall adjudge just and equitable: provided, that before making such application said company shall cancel all outstanding policies issued by such stock department.

SECT. 2. This act shall take effect upon its passage. [Approved May 12, 1887.]

[CHAP. 219.]

AN ACT to amend "An Act to impose an Excise Tax upon Life Insurance Companies."

Be it enacted, etc., as follows :

SECT. 1. Section one of chapter two hundred and twenty-seven of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and eighty is hereby amended by striking out in the twelfth line thereof the word "half," and inserting in its place the word "quarter."

SECT. 2. This act shall not effect any existing liability or duty, and shall take effect upon its passage. [Approved April 23, 1881.]
